Bill's Passage Stirs Campus Celebration

1966 Talisman Queen Kay Washer gets a kiss from King Jack Britt at crowning ceremonies during Friday night's Talisman Ball.

Senate Approves Friday Afternoon; Governor Signs Following Morning

The Kentucky Senate passed a bill Friday that touched off unprecedented celebration on Western's campus.

The bill, which granted university status to Western and three other state colleges, was signed into law at 11 a. m. EST Saturday by Governor Edward T. Breathitt.

The Senate had approved the legislation Friday afternoon after the House passed the measure earlier in the week.

"All of Western is grateful for the fact that the General Assembly has seen fit to bestow this outstanding recognition of university status upon this institution," a very happy President Kelly Thompson said.

'University Extra'

Evidence of the new status hit the streets at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, in the form of a "University Extra" College Heights Herald. The issue, first extra edition in the paper's 41-year history, included news of the legislation, history of the college and recent developments and a double-color print of the ten-year master plan for Western.

Friday evening students celebrated to the music of the Peter Palmer Orchestra at the annual Talisman Ball. Perhaps an example of perceptive foresight, the college earlier in the week assumed financial responsibility for the dance, opening the event to all students free of charge.

Reigning over the ball as King and Queen were seniors Jack Britt of Bowling Green and Kay Washer of Auburn.

'Most Stalwart Effort'

When the governor signed the bill into law Saturday morning in Frankfort, President Thompson and local legislators, A. E. "Doc" Tucker and Edward G. Brown, participated in the ceremony. Dr. Thompson called the legislation the result of "the most stalwart effort on the part of a governor I've ever seen."

Saturday was also declared "Western Day" in Bowling Green and Warren County by city Mayor Walter F. Weiss and county Judge Basil Griffin.

A citizens' appreciation dinner in the Student Center Ballroom honoring the college and Dr. Thompson's ten-year administration Saturday evening gathered an attendance of more than 650.

U. S. District Judge James F. Gordon, main speaker of the evening, called the occasion "... a great day of experience for you and a great day of experience and honor for me."

President Responds

The president responded to the address saying, "I am completely humble and thankful for the finest friendships any person has ever had."

He paid tribute to the Board of Regents, the faculty, staff and student body.

The gathering adjourned to Diddle Arena where the Hilltoppers of Coach Johnny Oldham lived up to the occasion, trouncing arch-rival Murray 71-59 in an exciting game.

In colorful half-time ceremonies at the game, a plaque denoting elevation of the College to university status was presented by Governor Breathitt, who arrived shortly before the game, to the president. The ceremony was witnessed by a capacity crowd of more than 12,500 persons.

Plaque Joins Twin

The plaque, gift of friends of the college, will be hung in Van Meter Auditorium beside a twin plaque signifying the change of the school from a state normal status to a teachers college.

An important proclamation to Western students also came during the ceremonies. The dismissal of Monday classes was announced by Regent H. Bemis Lawrence.

Others participating in the half-time tribute included Vice

Hampton To Compete In Detroit

Leon Hampton, winner of the 1966 Ogden Oratorical Contest, will be one of two Kentucky college students representing this state in the Interstate competition in May at Detroit.

A Georgetown College coed and Hampton were the winners in the Kentucky Oratorical Association contest Saturday at Kentucky Wesleyan College.

The senior history and government major from Louisville won the men's division with a speech entitled "A Greater Danger from Within," which took first place in the Ogden Contest in January.

Mary DeWeese, winner of the AAUW Oratorical contest on campus in January, represented Western in the women's division of the state contest Saturday at Kentucky Wesleyan.

Accompanying the pair to the state contest was Dr. Mildred Howard of the English department.

The national competition in May will be held at Wayne State University, Detroit, Mich.

Hilltoppers Encounter Loyola In Fourth NCAA Tourney Trip

By AL STILLEY
Herald Sports Editor

Western Kentucky makes its fourth appearance in the NCAA basketball tournament Monday by testing fourth-ranked Loyola University of Chicago at Kent State University at 8 p.m. (CST).

The Hilltopper-Rambler contest will be the second game of a Midwest Regional Preliminary doubleheader with Dayton University opposing Miami (Ohio) University at 6:30 p.m.

The Hilltoppers conclude their current campaign tonight by hosting Austin Peay State College in the E. A. Diddle Arena. Coach George Ireland's Ramblers finished their regular season Monday by hosting Bowling Green (Ohio).

'Speed, Accuracy, Defense'

"If this squad is like the typical Loyola teams of the past," observed director of athletics Ted Hornback, "They will literally cut you to pieces with their speed, accuracy and defense."

With a victory tonight, Western can finish its regular season with a 23-2 slate. Loyola finished 22-2 and was ranked fourth by both wire services at the time of the pairings.

Coach John Oldham will be making his third appearance in the NCAA. Although in his first showing as a Hilltopper mentor, Oldham guided Tennessee Tech to the NCAA in 1958 and in 1963.

Oldham's First Win?

Oldham is searching for his first win in tourney competition, having witnessed Golden Eagle losses to Notre Dame (94-71) in 1958 and to national champion Loyola (111-42) in 1963.

Western will start its usual lineup which features a strong offensive attack and an octopus-like defense. The Topper attack stars All-American Clem Haskins, who was averaging 21 points per game in 23 outings and rebounding at a 9.7 clip. Up front with Haskins is Greg Smith (9.4 ppg). Senior Steve Cunningham (14.7) will start at center. Team rebounding leader Dwight Smith (16.2) and slick Wayne Chapman (12.6) will be the starting guards.

Loyola features an offensive attack which has zoomed over the century mark 11 times this season. The Rambler attack is a combination of experience and youth.

Loyola Lineup

Coach Ireland's lineup looks like this: forwards — 6-4 senior Frank Perez (8.8) and 6-2 sophomore Corky Bell (15.7), 6-5 senior center Billy Smith (18.4), and guards — 5-11 sophomore Doug Wardlaw (14.8) and 5-11 senior Jim Coleman (16.5).

Loyola holds key decisions over St. Louis (74-73), UCLA (102-96, overtime), Dayton University (77-72), Kansas State (76-70) and Wichita (94-77). The Ramblers were defeated by Oklahoma City (106-89) and by Wichita (92-84).

The Ramblers became the third independent school in the history of the NCAA tourney to capture the national title in 1963. With three starters in double figures, led by all-American Jerry Harkness, Loyola spilled Cincinnati 60-58 for the title. The Ramblers, a typical come-from-behind club, trailed 45-30 with 11.45 to go.

Toppers Travel North To Kent

The Western Hilltoppers will depart for Kent State University and their date with Loyola University, from Municipal Airport Sunday at 1 p.m.

The Toppers are scheduled to arrive at the Canton-Akron Airport at 3:30 p.m. (CST). A practice session has been arranged for the Toppers on the KSU floor Sunday evening.

Team headquarters will be at the University Inn, Kent, Ohio. Tentative plans call for the team to return to Bowling Green immediately after the Western-Loyola contest.

ces with E. A. Diddle at the helm, the Toppers placed fourth in Midwest Regional competition in 1962, third in 1960 and were the southern representative in the Eastern playoff in 1940. Overall, Western is 3-4 in NCAA Tourney action.

The winner of the Western-Loyola contest will journey to Iowa City, Iowa to play the Big Ten Champion, probably Michigan, Friday, March 11. The Dayton-Miami winner is slated to play the University of Kentucky as part of a doubleheader.

The consolation and finals are slated for March 12 — with the possibility of a Western-U of K battle in the offing. Such a contest would highlight the basketball season for Bluegrass fans.

The four-team national championships will be played at College Park, Md., March 17-18.

THE GOVERNOR SIGNS THE BILL—Governor Breathitt signs into law the bill changing the status of Western to a university. Watching are Representative A. E. "Doc" Tucker, Dr. Kelly Thompson and Representative Ed Brown.

KEA Breakfast Set For Brown

Western's annual KEA Get-Together Breakfast will be Friday, April 15, at 8 a. m. (EST) in the Crystal Ballroom of the Brown Hotel in Louisville.

The Breakfast, started in the early 1930's, is a highlight of each school year for all persons connected with Western. Tickets went on sale Tuesday.

During the entire KEA session, the college will maintain informational headquarters in the main lobby of the Kentucky Hotel and in the south bay of the Brown Hotel lobby. Both headquarters will open Tuesday evening, April 12.

Workshop Hosted For School Librarians

A workshop of the Kentucky high school librarians was conducted in the student center recently.

The workshop, sponsored by the Kentucky Association of School Librarians and the Department of Library Science, explained how federal legislation affected school libraries in Kentucky.

Main speakers were Claude Taylor and Mrs. Joy Terhune, both of the Kentucky State Department of Education.

PLACEMENT OFFICE INTERVIEWS

On-campus interviews in the Placement Office have begun and all graduating seniors should take advantage of these interviews.

They should also file with the Placement Office and get the necessary information and credentials on file prior to the interviews in which they are interested.

Each person desiring to discuss employment opportunities with the recruiters should come to the placement office and sign for a definite time to be interviewed.

Watch the bulletin boards and the college paper for additional interviews as they are scheduled.

Big Switch

When the bill was passed raising Western's status from college to university, some Hilltoppers wasted no time in letting the change be known. Barbara Ballard and Joe Cerchiare put the big news on the pylon.

Government Class Visits Frankfort On 'Right' Day

This semester's Kentucky government class went to Frankfort on the right day.

Members of the class were present when the long-awaited "University Bill" passed the Kentucky House of Representatives.

The Feb. 16 trip included meeting many important state officials who discussed their work with the students, in addition to observing the legislature.

Career Accent

The accent was on career service in the talks with Commissioner of Personnel Walter Gattis, Commissioner of Finance Felix Joyner, and Commissioner of Economic Security E. Leslie Dawson. Each stressed the importance of state government and encouraged young people to consider a government career.

Secretary Thelma Stovall of the Department of State and her assistant described the operation of that department, and Attorney General Robert Matthews told the students of the role of his office in legal counseling.

Visit With Treasurer

One of the high points of the visit was a stop at the office of State Treasurer Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp, who recommended politics as a calling in which one has an opportunity to serve others.

Judge John Palmore of the Court of Appeals escorted the students through the courtroom and offices, and described the process through which the judges hand down decisions.

Frankfort hosts for the capital visit were A. E. Tucker and Ed Brown, local members of the House of Representatives, and Senator Floyd Hayes Ellis. The schedule of interviews was arranged by Don Armstrong, public information officer of the Department of Economic Security.

Student Congress Meets On Campus

A state-wide Student Congress brought an estimated 125 visiting high school students to Western's Training School, recently.

Under the direction of Horace Kelly, College High speech and drama instructor, the congress was sponsored by the Kentucky District of the National Forensic League.

Hosting College High arranged meetings in several rooms of Thompson Hall.

Librarian's Dedication Leads To 'Outstanding' Recognition

By ZILLA BISHOP

Not only is she an assistant professor of library science but also a well-known speaker among library circles in Kentucky.

Miss Vera Grinstead's dedication to her profession, her students and her community was recognized when she was selected to appear in the 1965 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

Miss Grinstead has had numerous invitations to speak to workshops, library groups, and clubs throughout the state.

Speech Now Leaflet

One of her speeches, "A Back Seat Driver Looks at Book Selection," was selected by the Kentucky State Department of Education to be published as a leaflet for school librarians. It was then selected for publication in the October issues of the Kentucky Library Association Bulletin and the Hoosier Schoolmaster of the Sixties.

The Glasgow native has been teaching at Western for the past eight years. When asked if she liked teaching here, she replied, "Very much. I wouldn't be here if I didn't."

Books Teach Respect

Actively concerned with good school library service for all children, Miss Grinstead stated,

"I believe that all children can be taught to respect life. And by giving children books, books, and more books, we can teach them to respect other people."

"Although we have the highest level of formal education in the world, fewer people buy and read books in this country than in any other modern democracy."

"This disturbing fact is confirmed by a Gallup poll taken in 1955. It was reported that half of the nation's high school graduates and one-fourth of its college graduates had not read a single book in that year."

She added that librarians must be prepared to choose well materials for libraries to motivate as well as serve the students of this modern space age.

McCullough Addresses Freshman Assembly

Dr. Martin McCullough, the assistant superintendent of Paducah city schools and an outstanding educational leader in Western Kentucky, spoke at freshman assembly Feb. 23.

He stressed secondary education in his talk.

The Feb. 16 assembly featured a talk by Courier-Journal columnist Joe Creason.

MEMORANDUM TO ALL RESIDENCE HALL OCCUPANTS

All residence hall occupants desiring to make dormitory reservations for the 1966 fall semester are to follow the procedures outlined below:

1. Obtain housing application form at the office of your residence hall or the Housing Office.
2. Complete the housing form and submit to Housing Office with payment, not later than 4:30 p.m., April 1. Housing applications submitted after this date can only be considered for such residence hall vacancies as are available when the application is received. Last year there were no dormitory spaces available after April 1.
3. Please contact the Housing Office for any additional information you may desire concerning your 1966 fall semester dormitory reservation.

Helm Library Magazines New, Varied

By ZILLA BISHOP

Let the new magazines in the library show you the latest fashions, help you choose your next record album or teach you a new folk song.

Students who take time to visit the magazine section of the library will find a new and different variety of interesting reading materials.

Women's Wear Daily, which includes the latest in fashions; High Fidelity, the magazine for music listeners and stereo enthusiasts, and Sing Out, the folk song magazine, are three of the many new periodicals which are available.

Several of the other new magazines include The Civil War Times, devoted mainly to the history and personalities of the Civil War; Dance Magazine, which offers news of the world of ballet and other dances as they are currently being performed; Arts in Society, of interest to the lay public as well as to professionals; and The American West, which includes fictional stories as well as non-fictional articles of the Old West.

The magazines plus others of particularly personal interest may be found on the second floor of the library in the periodicals area.

1088 To Study Renaissance Art Survey

More than one-seventh of Western's total enrollment this semester will study the prehistoric paintings in the Caves of Lascaux and the religious-influenced art of the Renaissance.

Those students — numbering 1,088 — are enrolled in art survey, one of the humanities offered at Western.

Art survey, which is basically a lecture course because of the large classes and generalization of the material, is taught by Dr. E. G. Monroe, Walter Place and Miss Lysbeth Wallace of the art department.

Considered one of the most notable aspects of the course is its picture recognition study, which requires students to learn the names and artists of 50 different paintings. Art educators feel this is of great importance in broadening the cultural horizons of the modern college student.

Greek Trilogy To Be Shown Tuesday In Student Center

A unique, two-hour sound and color movie of Aeschylus' "The Oresteia" will be shown at the Little Auditorium Room 103 of the Paul L. Garrett Student Center March 8 at 1 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. The film is sponsored by the departments of art, library services and foreign languages.

The film, Greek with English narration, was produced from the play given at Randolph-Macon Woman's college in 1954. The play is believed to have been the first production of the entire trilogy in the original Greek in this country. The play was directed and produced by Nicholas Webster who holds two Venice International Film Festival Awards.

Female Cast Of 100

The all-female cast of more than 100 consists entirely of students and alumnae of Randolph-Macon. Dances were originated by Randolph-Macon professors, choral music is sung by the Randolph-Macon Glee Club; and the music was written by Randolph-Macon music professors and played by the National Symphony Orchestra.

The film has been highly praised by prominent scholars. Dr. William Y. Elliott, professor of government at Harvard University declares:

"It is not often that a presentation of this character achieves the dignity and simplicity that befits a rendering of Aeschylus. To have achieved such an effect... was little short of a miracle."

Immortal Words

Dr. Anthony E. Raubitschek, associate professor of classics at Princeton University, says:

"Those who know and love Greek tragedy will enjoy the film most, for they will hear for the first time the immortal words of the poet spoken and sung in his language and by his characters, and they will see, as did the ancient audience, these characters dance and act upon the stage..."

"The Oresteia" has been referred to as the epic story of man's struggle to constitute trial by jury for personal revenge... It comprises three plays... based upon Greek mythology."

The plot centers around Orestes, who is exiled after his mother, Klytaimnestra, kills his father, Agamemnon. Later, seeking revenge for his father's death, Orestes kills his mother. He admits the murder, explains he was justified in doing so, and is acquitted by a tribunal of citizens.

Musical Cast Selected For 'The Bat's Revenge'

By TOM BROWN

Casting has been completed for the next all-school musical production, "The Bat's Revenge," slated for March 16, 17 and 18 on the Hill.

Singers, actors and dancers were selected by Russell H. Miller of the drama department and Virgil Hale of the music department, to portray the characters in Johann Strauss' musical comedy.

The actors to be featured in Western's next musical are Ralon Wheeler, Jo Westray, Nancy Hill, Eddie Key, Martin Miller, Bill Napp, Sue Fried, Leo Burmester and Larry G. Wade. Strauss' "The Bat's Revenge" takes place in Vienna during the 1850's.

Dr. Falke (Miller) goes to great pains to repay banker von Eisenstein (Wheeler) for a practical joke.

During his hilarious escapades to get his revenge, he involves Eisenstein's wife (Miss Westray), a prison warden (Napp), a chambermaid (Miss Hill) and a very rich prince (Burmester) who is bored with life.

Strauss' "The Bat's Revenge" will be presented on the Van Meter stage March 16, 17 and 18 at 8:15 p.m. The production is under the direction of Miller and Hale and is being choreographed by Mrs. Valerie Moody.

King Plays Strauss In French Horn Recital

The Department of Music presented Norman King, french hornist, in a senior recital last Thursday night at the student center.

King was assisted by Gary Martin, tenor, as he performed the music of Strauss and Britten for a capacity audience.

Accompanists were Diana Dietrich and Elizabeth Stovall.

DEAN'S LIST SHOTS TO BE RETAKEN

The retake on the fall semester dean's list pictures for the Talisman have been scheduled for Tuesday, March 8 for all classes. Individual schedules are as follows:

- Seniors: 10:30 a.m., Ky. Museum staircase.
- Juniors: 11 a.m., Margie Helm Library staircase.
- Sophomores: 11:30 a.m., Western Football Stadium.
- Freshmen: 12:00 p.m., Diddle Arena ramp.

All dean's list students will be excused from classes during the time it takes to make the picture.

Choral Clinic, Too

Dr. Harold A. Decker, chairman of the department of choral music in the School of Music at the University of Illinois, conducted a choral directors clinic at Western Feb. 19.

Approximately 50 music directors from over the state attended the clinic which opened with a coffee hour at 8:30 a.m. followed by sessions at 9 and 10:45 a.m. featuring rehearsal techniques.

Decker has conducted all-state choruses in 15 states and is widely known as a speaker, composer, music educator and choral clinician.

He conducted the Kentucky All-State Chorus when it met in Bowling Green in 1967.

Instrumental Clinic Set Saturday For Musicians

Donald Knaub, member of the Eastman School of Music Faculty at Rochester, N. Y., will conduct the second instrumental clinic for orchestra directors and students at Western Saturday.

Emphasis will be on the trombone. Knaub is the author of the textbook "Trombone Teaching Techniques."

Dr. Donald E. McGinnis, professor of music in the Ohio State University School of Music, conducted the first clinic last Saturday.

Flute Instruction

The initial clinic specialized in instruction in playing the flute.

Following registration at 8:30 a.m., the program included a directors' symposium at 9 a.m., a student workshop at 10:30 a.m., and discussion of the flute in band rehearsal at 1:15 p.m. McGinnis rehearsed the Western Concert Band, emphasizing the flute section.

James H. Godfrey of Western's music department is coordinator for the clinics.

Thaden Presents Piano Recital

Music filled Van Meter auditorium Sunday, February 20, when Edward Thaden presented a piano recital of compositions by Mozart, Chopin, Mendelssohn and Debussy.

An associate professor of music at Western, Thaden holds a master of music degree from Michigan State University.

The program opened with a Mozart sonata and included a Mendelssohn fantasy and two Chopin etudes.

A Debussy composition, "Children's Corner Suite," was a highlight. Another Debussy selection concluded the program.

Two Schools Tie For 'Top' In Festival

Russellville and College High Schools received superior ratings at the regional drama festival Saturday in Van Meter Auditorium.

The outstanding ratings entitle both schools to compete in the state festival in Lexington later this spring. Five area high schools competed in the annual meet.

Russellville's production of "The Lady's Not for Burning" was directed by Pattie Peete Gillespie. College High's "Queens of France" was directed by Horace Kelly.

Judge of the contest was Dr. Russell H. Miller of the English department.

Highlight of the festival was the selection of the most outstanding actors from the day's productions. This year's "Cast of Honor" included Cara Clayton and Don Wallet, Larue County; Billy McGinnis, Richard Upton and Brenda Sish; Russellville; and Linda Logan, Elizabeth Solley, Sally Lambert and James Carpenter, College High.

Mrs. Frances Dixon and David Doll of the English department, together with the Western Players and Alpha Psi Omega, helped to register schools and set up the stage.

Other competing schools were Franklin-Simpson, Larue County and Russell County.

Snack Bar Suffices, Lacks Atmosphere

Something should be done to give a campus atmosphere to the snack bar.

Although the food is good, the juke box is loud enough and the water fountain is cold enough, there is very little to indicate that it is part of the Western campus. It's clean, convenient and well-lighted, but something is missing.

Decorations Needed

Some student group or groups should be encouraged to plan a new decorating theme for the snack bar. Perhaps the IFC, or some other organization or organizations could form a committee and develop a plan by which the lifeless snack bar would be transformed into a colorful, exciting center for snacking and meeting with friends.

It may be that a theme along the line of a "Hilltopper Hall of Fame" would be desirable. Certainly an interesting atmosphere could be built around this idea. Pictures, trophies and other memorabilia of Western greats displayed would improve the impersonal surroundings now offered by the snack bar.

Student Developed Theme

If a theme could be developed and the atmosphere improved, perhaps a new name should be sought.

This sort of decoration should be initiated by the students to reflect their wishes, since they use the facility. Let's get started.

Lack Of Trust: Hilltop Policy?

Recently a first semester freshman, a young veteran who quit a $7,100 a year job in order to come to Western, was turned away from a basketball game because he did not have an ID card (he had received no communication as to when to pick it up).

He did, however, have his student receipt and enough additional identification to prove he was the same person whose name appeared on that receipt. But the college receipt was of no use.

The fact that this young man was treated like a child is in itself a disillusionment toward Western. At the door he was told to walk back down the ramp, around the building, and enter through the front entrance of AAB. At the front gate he talked with three officials, one of whom was the advisor of a senior who was accompanying the young man.

The senior explained to his advisor that the young man was his roommate and certainly a student. No one would accept either the identification or the senior's word. Another official gave a fatherly indignant lecture (to a man who has led troops in the field) stating, "The innocent have to suffer along with the guilty."

It is not our belief that this is actually the policy of Western, but we do believe that a little more trust and confidence should be paid between students and faculty members.

Manners And Neat Appearance Mean Much To Job Recruiters

"Western students are well groomed, neatly dressed, mannerly, friendly, and their behavior is excellent." These comments have been made numerous times by many visitors since I returned to the Hill six years ago.

It was emphasized anew last week by the recruiters on campus to discuss employment opportunities with the 1966 graduates.

Remember, these people are professional interviewers. They are skilled and experienced in the art of deciding, after a thirty-minute interview, if a student has the qualities necessary for a successful career with their respective companies or school systems. These people will probably visit an average of fifty campuses a year. By this fact, they are casting a more inquisitive and critical eye on the people they meet, both formally and informally, than the average visitor.

Praise From Eli Lilly

While walking to the Faculty House on Monday with two men (Madison Avenue-dressed) from Eli Lilly Company, and while classes were changing, I heard comments made by them.

"We travel to many campuses — see lots of students — we are extremely impressed by the dress and grooming of both girls and boys on your campus. No boys with long hair — no radically dressed girls. It seems everybody knows and speaks to everyone. We congratulate Western for having this type of student body."

Two recruiters from the school system of Gary, Indiana, who have been visiting campuses all over the country for several years, said on their last visit to Western, "Can you explain to us the reason for the exceptionally good manners your students display in the cafeteria? They have excellent table manners. They are relaxed — they talk and laugh, but are not boisterous. The students here speak to us as if they have known us a long time. We are favorably impressed. It is a joy to visit your campus."

'Above Average'

The gentleman representing Dow Corning Company, dressed as if he had stepped from a page in Esquire Magazine, made this statement: "This is my first visit to Western — what a beautiful campus — so uniquely located on a hill. Your students being interviewed today are above average in all phases, especially in appearance. The ones I have seen walking across campus are so friendly and are so well groomed. Can you explain the reason for this warmth your students seem to have for each other and for campus visitors?"

With impressions of this type being made by our students on the executives in business, industry, education, and government, then I can truly say, "Western's student body is ready to be that of a University."

Will Students Use New Library Hours?

Now that new hours have been added to the schedule at the Margie Helm Library, it will be interesting to see just how much the library is used during the added hours.

Several groups, individuals acting alone, as well as the Herald, have agitated for additional hours. It is hoped that the library will be used on Friday night to justify this latest move to make the library as usable and convenient as possible.

HILLTOPICS

A big weekend of emotional spontaneity and exuberance began Friday morning after the passage of the university bill.

Arriving at Van Meter shortly after the "fait accompli" for a final interview before the special "University Extra," I shook hands with perhaps the happiest man alive, President Kelly Thompson.

"This is the greatest day ever," the broadly smiling president said. "I tell you, I thought the bill was dead after yesterday afternoon. But our legislators and the governor went to work and the measure came through."

"I want you to know that your Senator (Sen. W. C. Mann — 46th district) was in there fighting for us all the way," he added.

That statement made me quite proud, but as the weekend wore on, I felt pride to the point of button-popping with the events which followed.

First of all, there was the special edition of the Herald which was on the street by 5 o'clock Friday. This was the first extra edition in the paper's 41-year history.

The following evening brought more reason to be especially proud. The Bowling Green sponsored "Thank You" dinner for Western drew a capacity crowd in the ballroom of the Student Center and accolades for our school and the leadership of Dr. Thompson. February 26 had been proclaimed "Western Day" in Warren County, and the merchants, civic leaders and citizens of the county proved that they really believed it.

By

But perhaps the greatest pride came with the near destruction of Diddle Arena Saturday night — in the form of raising the roof. Never before equaled cheers and applause urged the Hilltoppers to victory in a thrilling game, honored Governor Ned Breathitt and President Thompson, saluted our legislators, board of regents and deans.

There was school spirit in its purest form when the grand old man of basketball and Western's living legend, Ed Diddle, was called forward to receive one of the pens used to sign the university bill. There were tears of pride in Coach Diddle's eyes and very few dry eyes in the audience.

To top off a perfect weekend was its extension; classes were dismissed Monday in celebration.

It was a big weekend — and a proud one, too. I'm sure I speak for most students, faculty and all those involved when I say "thank you." Thanks to those instrumental in making Western a university, to Bowling Green for the dinner, to those wonderful Hilltoppers and to those responsible for the extra hours of sleep Monday morning.

The German club will present in co-operation with the Western Players, a one-act German play, "Die kleinen Verwandten" (The Poor Relatives) Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in Snell Hall. Assisting the club in producing the play will be members of Western Players and their advisor, Dr. Russell Miller.

A Phi O Sponsors Bull Session

Alpha Phi Omega sponsored an intradorm bull session last night in Central Hall's lobby. This was the first in a series of informal discussions to be provided by the fraternity.

Leading yesterday's forum was Robert Wurster of the English department. The discussion covered a variety of topics.

Future sessions will be directed by different faculty members.

Business Group Installs Newly Elected Officers

Delta Sigma Pi, professional business fraternity, recently elected new officers. They were installed at the business meeting Thursday night.

The officers are president, Bob Melton; senior vice president, Ken Rhoten; vice president and pledge master, John Burt; secretary, Jerry Given; treasurer, Bill Price; historian, Mike Sears; chancellor, William L. McElheny.

Diane Burns is the New Delta Sigma Pi Sweetheart.

The Delta Sigs held their first smoker for those who have accepted bids Wednesday at the West Side Steak House.

Special Program Introduced To SNEA

A special education program was introduced at the Feb. 22 meeting of the SNEA.

James T. Moore of the education department reported on the program which offers certification for teachers of the mentally retarded. Due to a recent illness, Moore was unable to elaborate on the program. However, he will return to discuss it at a later date.

The birthdays of Dr. Mary I. Cole, Moore, Mrs. Lurene Gibson and Miss Nancy Clayton were observed by the club members. Each contributed to the club's scholarship fund.

Six members of the Judo club put on a display for SNEA members after the business session. This display consisted of customs, terminology and dress of judo. A demonstration on the art of defense was presented.

Following the entertainment, refreshments appropriate for George Washington's birthday were served.

Players Announce

Executive Board Members

Western Players has announced replacements for the group executive board this semester.

The governing board has Leo Burmeister as chairman; Roberta Webb, secretary; Bill DeArmond, stage manager; Pat Cheshire, personal manager; Bob Mullins, publicity manager; Mary Lou Samuels, public relations; Bettye Shely, historian; Tony Bruno, business manager; Joe Hines, assistant to the business manager; Dana Rea, social chairman, and Dr. Russell Miller as advisor.

The first social event of the present semester will be the annual "Carnival of Characters," at which all members dress as their favorite character from a book, movie or play.

For the carnival tomorrow night at Western Hills, tickets may be obtained from any member of the executive board.

Training School Names Top Students

The student body at College High recently elected several students to honor positions.

Elected Mr. College High for this school year was David Sims. Maggie Walker was elected Miss College High. Also honored were Walter Ward, Mr. Senior, and Georganna Sleamaker, Miss Senior.

David Shreve and Dru Gibson were elected Mr. and Miss Junior. Robert Wagoner and Brenda Godfrey, Mr. and Miss Sophomore. Mr. and Miss Freshman are Alan McGuffey and Jan Funk.

Further honors went to Susan McChesney who received the D.A.R. award, and David Shipley and Elizabeth Solley who were chosen Mr. and Miss Newcomer.

Judy Mayfield and Georganna Sleamaker were elected to Girls' State, and Miss Sleamaker went on to become Governor of Girls' State. Wayne Graham was elected to Boys' State.

Miss Mayfield is president of the Student Activity Committee. Cheerleaders are Laura Huddleston, Dru Gibson, Chris Perkins, Maggie Walker and Miss Mayfield.

Western Southpaws Suffer Common Malady, Deskitis

By KENNETH BULLIVANT

Have certain muscles of your back been aching? Have your friends been saying your posture is very poor?

If you admit to these symptoms, then there is no doubt that you belong to that select category of students on the Hill known as "lefties." And the punishment for being a southpaw at this school is a common, yet undiscovered malady called "deskitis."

The main cause of this debilitating affliction is the almost complete domination of right-handed desks in classrooms. In most instances, the poor portside has to suffer silently the pain and embarrassment of deskitis.

If every fortunate right-hander would take time to notice a typical lefty at work in class, this is what he would probably observe:

A severely drooped left shoulder; a hunched back; eyes (probably crossed) no farther than six inches from the paper; a stiff, rigid and unsupported left arm; quick, lightning wrists; and a pronounced scowl on the face.

Why does this situation exist?

It could be that plans were made for only right-handers to attend our school. What, then, are the avid followers of Sandy Koufax and Boots Tillsot (a well-known, unemployed, left-handed farmhand from Texas) supposed to do?

Perhaps the problem was that the only available desks to be bought were for right-handers. In this case, it might be that the desk-maker had a grudge against lefties. Or maybe he came from a long line of righties.

Front-Line Group?

Indeed, a positive stand must be taken.

Under the existing condition it would be advantageous to form an organization such as S.P.T.S.L. — The Society for the Proper Treatment and Straightening up of Lefties (better known as Spitsil). This organization could be active on the front lines — in the classrooms. It could also spread underground in an effort to stir sympathy and agitation among left-leaning professors.

Another remedy could be effected by having southpaws sit in their seats in the wrong direction. This procedure would limit the writing surface to the narrow part of the desk, but it would provide relaxation for the arm.

However, unless the instructor moves to the rear of the room or the student turns his desk around, full employment of the eyes and ears will not be possible.

Keep In Shape

Deskitis is definitely a problem to the otherwise well-adjusted college student. Certainly, unlucky left-handers should expect sympathy and pity if nothing else.

Meanwhile, it is essential to the movement that you lefties keep your left shoulder, arm and wrist in shape. It is also imperative that you have your roommate tug down on your right shoulder from time to time.

It may not be long before the plight of the left-handed student at Western will be recognized and corrected. Then once again you will be able to hold your head high, straighten your back, relax your arm and smile.

Faculty Facts

President Kelly Thompson; Dr. Paz Ramos, administrative intern; Dr. Raymond L. Cravens, vice president for academic affairs; Dr. Tate Page, dean of the College of Education; James Carpenter, director of the Training School; and Bobby Houk, an instructor at College High, attended the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education conference in Chicago, Ill., in February.

Mrs. Lucille Stiles, Mrs. Bertha Jones and Mrs. Romanza Johnson of the home economics department, recently attended a two-day workshop in Louisville.

The purpose of the workshop was to discuss the ways a home economist can work with low income groups.

The Kentucky Home Economics-Teacher Education Committee recently met on the campus. Present at the meeting was Miss Mary Bell Vaughn, assistant director of home economics education in Kentucky.

Assisting on the committee were Miss Marie Adams, head of the home economics department, and Mrs. Lucille Stiles.

Miss Imogene Simpson, assistant professor of library science, Miss Ruth Hines Temple, head of the art department, and Dr. Paul Hatcher, dean of Potter College of Liberal Arts, served on a state evaluation committee representing the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, Feb. 13, 14 and 15.

This committee, composed of Kentucky and Tennessee educators from all subject fields, evaluated Glasgow High School to determine whether the school met the standards of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

A. J. Thurman, student aid director, represented Kentucky at the Annual Southeastern Student Financial Aid Conference in Atlanta, Feb. 16, 17 and 18.

The conference, attended by representatives of 10 states, centered around state and federal student aid programs.

John S. Herrick, recently appointed professor of management in the College of Commerce, has been named as director of the third annual Water Utilities Management Short Course scheduled on campus April 27-29.

Arrangements for the program were completed in a recent campus meeting attended by representatives of the Kentucky-Tennessee section of the American Water Works Association. The college was represented by Dean William Jenkins and Professor Herrick.

Rush Over, Sorority Pledging Begins

With the exciting days of rush over, sorority girls on the Hill have settled down to activities surrounding formal pledging and election of officers for the coming year.

ALPHA DELTA PI

Newly elected officers of Alpha Delta Pi for next year are president, Sandra Young; vice president, Margaret Siddens; recording secretary, Cathy Giles; corresponding secretary, Ginny Munster; treasurer, Melanie Minyard; and Panhellenic representatives, Rita Sutton and Kris Hein.

Also, membership chairman, Paula Wagener; guard, Nancy Glascock; chaplain, Susan Cowherd; registrar, Gwyn Black; reporter-historian, Rita Minton; scholarship chairman, Suzanne King; standards chairman, Karen Williams; members-at-large of the executive council, Gwyn Black and Jenny Farnsworth.

ALPHA OMICRON PI

AOPi elected the following officers: president, Karen Fiddelke; vice president, Kay Twaryonas; recording secretary, Jane Dunning; corresponding secretary, Beth McDaniel; treasurer, Barbara Young; assistant treasurer, Jan White; rush chairmen, Reba Cain and Judy O'Hair; and Panhellenic delegates, Ruth Ann Koostra and Ellen Pitt.

Also, song leader, Mary Jo Holt; historian, Marty Ann Brooks; activities chairman, Carolyn Kaminski; fraternity education, Becky Rutler; social chairman, Willie Purdy; standards chairman, Sue Sprague; philanthropic chairman, Sandy Smith; scholarship chairman, Anna Rose Winn; reporter and public relations, Janice Sisk; doorkeeper, Frankie Watson.

KAPPA DELTA

On Feb. 22, Kappa Delta elected officers for the coming year. The new officers are president, Ann Bryan; vice president, Peggy Mills; secretary, Margaret Willis; treasurer, Janet Schoey; assistant treasurer, Mary Lou Shuster; editor, Sue Feather; membership chairman, Suzanne Humphery.

PHI MU

The Phi Mu's have also installed their new officers. They are as follows: president, Ronnie Harris; vice-president, Pat Ward; pledge director, Linda McQuire; membership director, Priscilla Hampton; recording secretary, Lynn Sengel; corresponding secretary, Joan Hixon; treasurer, Nancy Newlin; and Panhellenic delegate, Gail Duncan.

The officers' training program was conducted recently at the home of Mrs. Betty Orendorf, Phi Mu alumnae advisor.

CHI OMEGA

Chi Omega also has six new active members. They are Margaret Brockman, Martha Sacrey, Susan Bauer, Angie Stricklin, Dollveta Young and Suzanne Davis. Miss Davis was named "Best Pledge."

The Chi O's also have installed three special initiates, Mrs. Judith Woosley, Mrs. Jan Skillman Berlew and Mrs. Claire Pettis.

SIGMA KAPPA

Sigma Kappa had its installation of new officers. Those installed were president, Martha Flood; 1st vice-president, Mary Lou Craighead; 2nd vice-president, Carol Ann Ford; corresponding secretary, Barbara Myers; recording secretary, Vicki Bachman; treasurer, Anita Bowen; registrar, Karen Molyneux.

Now that the sororities have new pledge classes, last semester's pledges are active in their chapters. The new actives of ADPI are Kay Bertram, Susan Constantine, Vivian Denton, Susan Graham and Carol Philaphy.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Formal initiation of the 11-man fall pledge class was conducted Feb. 2 at the student center.

New initiates are Jack Ledogar, Rich Riley, Steve Black, Ron Beck, Vinny Donlon, Perry Ledford, Paul Steelman, Bob Patterson, Harold Madden, Joe Miller and Buck Akin.

Jerry Nix, traveling secretary of the national fraternity, spoke at a rush function congratulating the newly elected chapter officers.

1966 officers are Jerry Safford, president; Louise Tonini, vice president; Don Darnell, secretary; Butch Hood, rush chairman; Terry Gammon, social chairman; Max Bunnell, treasurer; David Arvin, ritualist; Steve House, pledge trainer.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON

Sigma Phi Epsilon was runner-up in the Sig Ep Invitational Tournament at Kentucky Wesleyan College, Feb. 19-20.

One member of the spring pledge class was inadvertently omitted from last week's Herald. He is Curtis Milton.

SIGMA CHI

Installation ceremonies will be Saturday for the first pledge class installed by the Zeta Mu. Continued on page 11, column 1

Farmer Gains Chairmanship Of Young GOP

Larry Ray Farmer, a history and government major from Whitesville, was elected chairman of the Kentucky Young Republican clubs during the organization's convention Feb. 19 in Louisville.

Farmer tallied 109 of the 149 votes cast by state delegates.

University of Kentucky student Art Leachman placed Farmer's name in nomination for the post.

Farmer and Louie Hillenmeyer, vice chairman, performed their first official function when they appointed regional party chairmen late last month.

Training School PTA Observes Founders Day

Founders Day was observed by the Training School PTA Feb. 22 in Van Meter Auditorium with a program featuring an informative talk, musical entertainment and an award to an outstanding member.

Dr. Paz Ramos, administrative intern at Western this school year, spoke on education in her native country, the Philippines.

College High's 40-piece orchestra, under the direction of James Godfrey, played Jerome Kern selections from "Showboat," "Roberta" and a medley of his music called "Music in the Air."

For service contributions to the Training School PTA, a long active member Mrs. Paul Gerard received an honorary lifetime membership in the organization.

Dr. John D. Minton, dean of Western's Graduate School, opened the program with the devotional.

Faculty Facts

Walter B. Nalbach, head of the industrial arts department, attended committee meetings in Frankfort, Feb. 11 and 25, to work out a curriculum for the training of teachers for vocational education.

Miss Julia Neal of the Kentucky Library spoke to the Peabody Faculty Women's Club in Nashville, Feb. 19, on "The Kentucky Shakers."

GREEK NEWS

Indoctrination week for the fall pledge class started Monday night. Nightly meetings and discussions were conducted in the student center.

The spring pledge class has elected the following officers: Dale Weaver, president; John Estill, vice president; John O'Brien, treasurer; Paul Baker, secretary; Bob Eaton, projects chairman; Jim Old, parliamentarian.

All fraternity news stories must be received by the Greek editor by 5 p.m. Friday prior to the publication of the following Thursday's Herald. Stories should be placed in the Herald box just inside the back door of the Former Library building.

Art Exhibit Terminates

Western's art department is presenting a Collector's Item show ending tomorrow in the gallery of Cherry Hall.

The exhibit includes prints, paintings and drawings representing many well-known artists of this country and abroad.

These works of Picasso, Matisse, Roualt, Meeker, Fearing, Smith, Colescott and Beauchamp belong to Dr. Mildred Howard of the English department, Dr. E. G. Monroe, Ivan Schieferdecker, Miss Lysbeth Wallace and Michael Jung of the art department.

Included in the show are graphic processings, paintings and a line drawing by William Loy, former Western art instructor.

PR's Entertain Power Orphans

Children at Potter Orphans Home were special guests when the Rebellettes and Pershing Rifles gave an exhibition in their honor, Saturday, at the new National Guard Armory.

The Rebellette junior varsity entertained with an eight-minute sequence drill. Pershing Rifles followed with a Murphy squad (comedy act).

With the varsity Rebellettes as hostesses, the guests of the day were served refreshments and given ample time to ask questions pertaining to the Rebellettes or PR's.

The junior varsity will be appearing in neighboring high schools to give special exhibitions this semester. They are under the command of Cadet Sgt. Wilford C. Voils, a junior from Hawesville.

Business Classes Get Films

The Board of Realtors of Kentucky has presented four films and filmstrips to the College of Commerce for use in its real estate program.

Bob Hunt, local realtor and president of the State Board, made the presentation of the films at a recent class meeting of the Principles of Real Estate course. Mrs. Hugh M. Thomason, instructor of the class, accepted the films on behalf of the college.

Western presently offers 15 semester hours in real estate courses including Principles, Marketing, Law, Finance and Appraisals. Completion of these and a general marketing course qualifies a student for a certificate in real estate.

In making the presentation, Hunt cited the contribution being made to the real estate area by Western's program.

The films, which deal with the varied aspects of real estate marketing, are available for general showing to high schools, business groups and other interested groups through the campus Audio Visual Service Center. Groups interested in arranging for showings should contact Fithian Faries, director of the center.

Pershing Rifles Place Third

Pershing Rifle Company B-3 at Western has taken third place in regulation drill in competition among 13 teams at Purdue University, LaFayette, Ind.

The Rebellettes placed second among nine co-ed teams competing.

The February meet was the first of six scheduled for both teams this year.

The University of Illinois Army ROTC placed first in the men's regulation drill and the Purdue Honor Guard (Army) was second.

Hilltoppers Eye NCAA Title; Coach Oldham Hopes To Avenge 1963 Loss Against Loyola Ramblers

By AL STILLEP
Herald Sports Editor

No one wants to defeat Loyola more than head coach John Oldham.

It has been three seasons since Loyola gained the NCAA championship by defeating the University of Cincinnati 60-58 in 1963 at Louisville's Freedom Hall. The Ramblers of George Ireland began their "pennant" drive by defeating Oldham's Tennessee Tech squad 111-42.

Chance For Revenge

In 1963, Tech entered the NCAA with a 16-8 record that ironically included a 107-83 conference loss at Western. The Golden Eagles also had to defeat Morehead in a special playoff in Western's "Red Barn."

And now Oldham, the mentor of Western's best team since 1954, has a chance for revenge.

There is no doubt that Western is entering the Ohio Valley Conference's strongest representative in the history of the NCAA Tournament. And after the Topper showing in the NIT last season, Western has the experience under tourney pressure.

'Who's Best In The Bluegrass'

Following Western's victory over Eastern Kentucky, Oldham eyed the NCAA by commenting, "I guess we all want to play Kentucky."

That is the dream which Bluegrass fans are looking for in order to settle the question: "Who's best in the Bluegrass?" But to get to such a "dream game" and the first-ever Western-UK encounter, the Hilltoppers MUST survive the fast break styles of Loyola and probable Big Ten champion Michigan.

The Loyola game is the contest which Western hopes will catapult the Toppers into national recognition as one of the very best basketball units in the nation. The Ramblers were ranked No. 4 by both Associated Press and United Press International. Western was ranked in the top twenty by Associated Press and No. 14 by UPI at the time of the NCAA Pairings.

Determined coach Oldham, in referring to the season ratings, commented, "I think we can play with anybody in the country. He continued, "Never has a Western team gone so far and gotten so little recognition . . . Our boys would like some headlines, too."

Coach Oldham and the Toppers hope that the headlines and a national championship are right around the corner. The Toppers want to amend for the Dayton mismatch—which cost the Toppers a lot of prestige.

Starting Five Want Championship

But Western is the first conference team in the nation to secure a bid to the NCAA at such an early date. The Toppers are seeking a 23-2 season record in tonight's Austin Peay battle.

Individually, Western's All-American Clem Haskins is seeking additional national honors and Greg Smith wants "sophomore of the year" laurels. And ex-University of Kentucky sophomore Wayne Chapman, a starting Topper guard, wants the Wildcats. Dwight Smith wants to win and senior Steve Cunningham wants to graduate from a national championship club.

The squad has been looking forward to the NCAA tourney since the beginning of the season.

"This team can go as far as it thinks it can go," claimed Cunningham while being interviewed on "Topper Topics" prior to the opening game of the season.

Chapman, on the same program, added, "This team has all the ingredients to challenge for the national title."

After winning the OVC Holiday Tourney, Haskins praised, "I think we can go all the way and take the big one (the NCAA) this time." The unselfish Haskins added, "I also believe that we have one of the best teams in the nation this year—as good as Kentucky—or anybody."

The Dedication Is Evident

Some OVC fans are calling the current Western team the best ever to enter the NCAA. After Western trounced Murray 101-74 at Murray, Racer coach Cal Luther claimed, "Western will be the strongest representative this league has ever had in the NCAA playoffs."

The dedication is evident. And coach Oldham will be readying his Toppers for the NCAA after tonight's contest against Austin Peay. In the back of coach Oldham's mind will be the haunting memory of Loyola's first step to the national championship.

This will be a game which the Hilltoppers will want to win for coach Oldham, who will be displaying his quiet determination to help Western become the best in the nation.

Western attempts to clear its last hurdle before departing for the NCAA basketball tournament by hosting Austin Peay State College tonight in the E. A. Diddle Arena.

The Hilltoppers and Governors collide as a result of a postponed contest originally scheduled for Jan. 29. Western owns a 94-67 decision over George Fisher's quintet at Clarksville, Tenn. All five Western starters were in double figures as Western claimed a nifty 47.4 field goal percentage.

Successful Season

With a victory tonight, Western would close its most successful regular season campaign since 1953-54 when the Toppers went 29-1 during the season before finishing fourth in the National Invitational Tournament.

The Toppers can become the first team to waltz through 14 Continued on page 15, column 1

Ecker To Leave Hill

By DAVID WEST
Asst. Sports Editor

The fantastic four-year "Ecker Era" will come to a close on the Hilltop June 3 when track coach Tom Ecker leaves Western to become one of three national track coaches of Sweden.

An American First

The energetic Ecker — who in 1964 steered Western to its first OVC track championship in the history of the school — will be the first American to hold the high-ranking position of a national coach in a foreign country.

Commenting on the duties of his upcoming new position, Ecker said, "I am to organize track and field in the five Swedish universities and in all of the high schools in the country."

In addition, Coach Ecker will travel extensively throughout Europe with the Swedish national track team. His first trip will be to Budapest, Hungary in September for the European Championships. He also will be in Mexico City for the 1968 Olympics.

Swedish See Hill

Two members of the Swedish team, world-ranked discus thrower Lars Haglund and Sweden's top pole vaulter, Hans Lagerqvist, visited the Western campus last April as guests of Western.

The Swedish government first became interested in Ecker

NEW SWEDISH COACH

when he visited the country during a ten-week State Department sponsored lecture and coaching tour of the Scandinavian countries in the summer of 1964.

Like Ecker's Ideas

The other two national coaches, Gunnar Carlsson, Chief National Coach and Gustaf Laurell, expressed interest in many of Ecker's ideas and theories on track and field.

Says Ecker, "I'm really looking forward to working with these two men. They are ten years ahead of the rest of the world in track and field."

The venerable Western mentor will be looking for his third straight OVC championship this spring and the Topper thinies will no doubt want to give it to him as he closes out a soundly successful tenure on the Hilltop.

Since coming to Western in 1962, the enthusiastic Ecker has continually brought home a winner. He "beat the bushes" for recruits his first year here, attending track meets around the country, taking down the winners' numbers, chasing them down and "selling" them on coming to Western.

The results were phenomenal. The Toppers came from sixth place to second in the conference in 1963. And in 1964 the Hill-men re-wrote the conference and Western's record books in rolling up 91 points to dislodge Murray from the title spot.

Last year, the Tops, accustomed to the view from the top of the heap, grabbed the conference crown and sat on it. And they are looking for championship number three this spring.

Tight Squeeze

Sandwiched in between the regular track season, the busy Ecker-men brought home the conference cross-country championship in 1964.

The "Ecker Empire" has made itself felt in the OVC. Conference coaches recognized the Toppers as tops in track as they named Ecker "Coach of the Year" in 1963, 1964 and 1965.

Aside from guiding the Western cinder-men to the top position in the OVC, the former quarter-miler from Iowa has conference games without a scratch. It would mark the first time that the same conference team has gone unbeaten twice in loop play. Western accomplished the feat in 1960.

The contest will be the final tune-up for the Hilltoppers' important encounter with Loyola University of Chicago in the second game of the Midwest Regional Preliminary at Kent State University, Monday at 8 p. m. (CST).

Regular Starters

Coach John Oldham will start his regular unit which contains Greg Smith and Clem "The Gem" Haskins at the forwards and Steve Cunningham in the middle with Dwight Smith and Wayne Chapman in the backcourt.

The Governor starting lineup should include forwards Hal Jackson and Gene Wilkerson, center Tommy Head, and guards Mel Van Hooser and Dennis Snyder.

Western seniors Steve Cunningham and Jackie Butler will be playing their final contest in the Diddle Arena. Cunningham will have the distinction of being the final player coached by E. A. Diddle to graduate from the Hill.

Cunningham, Butler

Cunningham has averaged over 12 points per game during three seasons in addition to usually defending against the opponent's tallest player. A mere 6-5, Cunningham has been challenged by guarding All-American Clyde Lee of Vanderbilt, Carroll Hooser of Southern Methodist University, seven-foot Henry Finkel of Dayton, Henry Akin of Morehead and Murray's Stu Johnson.

He has been described as "The Hub" of Western's offense and as the most under-rated ball player on the Hilltopper squad.

Butler, a reserve center for Cunningham, came to Western last season from Vincennes (Ind.) Junior College. The Kentucky native has sparked several scoring spurges while wearing the Topper uniform.

Recently Butler paid tribute to Cunningham by wryly commenting, "I guess I pick the starters pretty well because Steve would be the last player on the ball club to foul out. I don't mind playing behind him at all except when he got into foul trouble against Dayton and Henry Finkel."

Both seniors will be bowing out at home tonight with hopes of graduating from a national championship team.
